

2011 CENSUS

What is the census used for?

The census is vitally important for communities, making sure that the facilities and services can be identified. All sorts of decisions are taken based on census statistics, from the number of car parking spaces needed at local supermarkets, to where to locate bank branches and even the allocation of fire engines. Numbers of school places, development of traffic systems and funding for local authorities are all heavily influenced by the census. It's all about planning ahead. The census, a rich source of statistics, affects all of us in one way or another, as decisions about the communities we live in take place all the time.

The 2011 Census is run by the Office for National Statistics (ONS).
