Independent Travel Training

Independent Travel Training (ITT) is one-to-one training designed to equip young people who are entitled to home to school/ college travel assistance with the confidence and skills required to travel independently, be it on foot, cycling or public transport.

A travel trainer usually works with a learner on a one-to-one basis, creating a personalised programme which allows them to gradually develop their independence at their own pace through accompanied, close and distance shadowed journeys. Travel training provides valuable independence and increased confidence for learners.

Passengers will be regularly assessed for their ability to undertake this important lifeskill. Parents are informed about this process before it commences. Once a student has completed ITT they will have continued support from the travel trainers should they require it until they leave their academic placement.
