I have lived in Albrighton since

I wanted to be near local shops and public transport. I walk regularly around the village and the network of country walks. I wanted to be near a good medical and dental practice. I was pleased to respond to the Local Plan as I feel we were given a voice and do not feel we need further incursion into the Green Belt - the farms around contribute to the good health - mental and physical - of the locals. The village feel in Albrighton and all the statutory and volunteer services are important to our small community - especially the "countryside" aspect of living here. The increase in traffic would be detrimental to both the village and the countryside.
