Please be as precise as possible.

I support the local plan for a variety of reasons. Having been involved with [redacted] for most of my life the character of the village and the land that surrounds it, the green belt that encases the beauty of the small village should be protected at all costs.

Albrighten has offered land and has had/will have numerous developments—when is enough, enough??

There are numerous sites on Shropshire for the ~~concrete~~ unmet Black Country housing needs that do not destroy the land, the character, the wildlife, the green belt, farmers field. The proposed sites in Tasley, Shrewsbury and Ironbridge are ideal for the proposed housing as Albrighton cannot accommodate the influx of houses, residents, traffic, the impact of flooding. Albrighton character does not lend itself to supermarkets, shopping centres and secondary schools, it's community needs protecting as well as it's green belt, it is the most special quality that Shropshire has - why destroy it when there are other options?!
